DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after allowance or after an Office action under Ex Parte Quayle, 25 USPQ 74, 453 O.G. 213 (Comm'r Pat. 1935). Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, prosecution in this application has been reopened pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 22 September 2009 has been entered.

Response to Amendment

2. The Applicants' amendment, filed 22 September 2009, has been received, entered into the record, and considered.

3. As a result of the amendment, claims 16, 20, 57, 58, 64 and 65 have been amended. . Claims 1-15 and 23-56 had been previously canceled. Claims 16-22, 57, 58, 60-65 and 67-70 remain pending in the application.

Priority

4. The Applicants' claim to domestic priority under 35 U.S.C. § 120, as a continuation of application 09/493,701, filed 28 January 2000, which is a continuation-in-part of application 09/431,760, filed 1 November 1999, is acknowledged.

5. Since the limitations of the claims, particularly the feature of ordering documents/advertisements based upon a monetary value associated with said documents/advertisements, does not appear to be supported by application 09/431,760, the priority date of the claims of the instant invention will be determined on a claim-by-claim basis as necessary.

Information Disclosure Statement

6. The Applicants' Information Disclosure Statement, filed 22 September 2009, has been received and entered into the record. Since the Information Disclosure Statement complies with the provisions of MPEP § 609, the references cited therein have been considered by the examiner. See attached form PTO-1449.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 16-22, 57, 58, 60-65 and 67-70 are allowed.

The present invention is directed to a method and system for organizing advertisements in a semantic space, and displaying advertisements which conceptually correspond most closely with received concepts/terms and concepts close in meaning to the received concept/term.

The closest prior art of record, Lazarus et al. (U.S. Patent 6,134,532) teaches a method and system for organizing advertisements according to their meaning into a lexicon, the lexicon defining elements of a semantic space, identifying one or more documents related to the received search key words, and transmitting for display the one or more documents.

Furthermore, Addison et al. (European Patent Application EP 0,597,630) teaches receiving a concept, determining one or more concepts close in meaning to the received concept, identifying one or more advertisements in a semantic space related to the received concept and the one or more concepts close in meaning to the received concept based on meanings of the received concept and the one or more concepts, and transmitting for display the one or more documents based on an order.

Finally, Eldering (U.S. Patent 6,298,348) teaches a method wherein the documents are ordered corresponding to the relationship between monetary values determined for each of the identified documents.

However, Lazarus et al., Addison et al. and Eldering all fail to anticipate or render obvious the recited feature of organizing advertisements according to their meaning into a lexicon represented by a network of interconnected meanings (as opposed to organizing them as term vectors), as in independent claims 16, 57 and 64.

While the prior art of record represents the lexicon in a semantic space by a multidimensional continuous space and defines each advertisement solely by its absolute position within the semantic space, the claimed invention represents the lexicon in a semantic space by a network of interconnected meanings, and defines each advertisement according to its meaning and its relationship with other interconnected meanings within the semantic space.

These features, together with the other limitations of the independent claims are novel and non-obvious over the prior art of record. The dependent claims 17-22, 58, 60-63, 65 and 67-70, being definite, enabled by the specification, and further limiting to the independent claim, are also allowable.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
